A message to our community:

The Shakespeare Company (TSC), Calgary's lean and mean classical theatre company, is committed to making great performances and inspired direction.

TSC invites and welcomes everyone and believes a collection of diverse artists, ideas, cultures and traditions leads to a deeper understanding of the work we present onstage and ultimately, our connections with each other.

TSC recognizes that we live in a society where discrimination still operates to the disadvantage of many groups. We believe in equal rights, recognition of their human dignity, and have equal opportunities to education, and employment. We promote the promotion of equal opportunities within the theatre and our organization. To sustain this commitment, we have policies conducive to the principles of fairness and equality.

The arts are a powerful educational and entertainment medium for acknowledging and appreciating our diversity. We are expanding our initiatives, creating even more entry points for our diverse community.

We are adamant that no person should suffer or experience less favourable treatment, discrimination or harassment based on colour, religion, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, ability, or age.

The works of William Shakespeare have always challenged our perception of race and identity, encouraging necessary conversations and self-reflection. With the full support of everyone in our organization, we are proud to be more people than ever before, whether it be through our work on stage or off stage.

The Shakespeare Company recognizes our responsibility to represent our community in a supportive, meaningful way. Our mission, vision and values and are taking steps to ensure that we will come back in a way that allows us to serve our community that has supported us for nearly 25 years.
